DID THEY GET NEW BOOBS?

These celebrities are sporting some mysterious new cleavage lately!

THEN

NOW

▲ BELLA THORNE, 19

Rumors that the former Disney Channel star got breast implants began in 2015, but Bella has yet to comment. And the experts are divided: While NYC-area plastic surgeon Dr. Steve Faliek says Bella definitely got a boob job, Michigan-based plastic surgeon Dr. Anthony Youn credits a good push-up bra for her extra cleavage.

KYLIE JENNER, 19

The Keeping Up With the Kardashians star denies getting breast implants, but she seems to have recently upgraded from a full C cup to a full D. Philadelphia-based plastic surgeon Dr. Kirk Brandon isn't sure why: "They look unnaturally large now," he says.

Her cups runneth over!

Little lift?

▲ HEIDI KLUM, 43

Looks like the mom of four has had a little tune-up by way of a possible breast lift and small implants. "They add just a bit of volume," believes Dr. Faliek. "They were done well."

► TAYLOR SWIFT, 27

Taylor just can't shake off talk that she's gone under the knife. "I think she went from an A to a big B cup," says Dr. Youn, who is impressed with the singer's new curves. "They fit her thin frame well."

► KIRSTEN DUNST, 34

Kirsten denies having any plastic surgery done, but when the actress recycled a dress she'd worn 13 years earlier, fans noticed she fills out the bodice more now. North Carolina-based plastic surgeon Dr. Peter Capizzi believes she's had "small gel implants," which, he says, "are known for their natural-feeling texture."

CAITLYN JENNER, 67

Caitlyn first underwent breast augmentation in 2015 during her transition from male to female. But she seems to have gone even bigger! "It can take more than one surgery for her to get the size she wants," explains Dr. Youn.
