

KNIFESTYLES OF THE RICH & FAMOUS

and singer Kristin Chenoweth admitted a few years back that she started getting Botox injections to help with her migraines when she turned 35. "I haven't had a full-blown headache since," she says. But what other treatments has Kristin, now 48, sought since first trying Botox, and has she gone too far? "I think she looks a touch 'done, but overall she looks good," savs plastic surgeon Dr. Anthony Youn, who, like the other experts consulted for this story, hasn't worked with Kristin, Plastic sur-

"I can barely see her beautiful eyes."

says she looks "a little plastic," but feels on the whole the Broadway star is "aging extremely well." Cosmetic dermatologist Dr. Kenneth Mark sees room for improvement. "She has way too much Botox in her fore-had," he says, "which has left her with a heavy brow." Aesthetic nurse specialist Jill Caruso also thinks Kristin could be overusing Botox and fillers. "But her skin looks amazing." Caruso points out. "Kristin is a natural beauty, and she's still gorgeous!" &
