KNIFESTYLES OF THE RICH & FAMOUS

1993

Hawaiian actress and singer Tia Carrere once quipped, "Beauty lasts five minutes — maybe longer if you have a good plastic surgeon." We can't help wondering if that's her secret — after all, Tia just turned 50 and still looks much like she did more than two decades ago! "Tia has always been a strikingly beautiful woman, and she is still lovely," says Dr. Alexander Rivkin, a cosmetic surgeon at Westside Aesthetics in LA, who, like the other experts interviewed for this story, has not treated Tia. ral, but she shouldn't have put so much filler in her cheeks. It makes her look older." Cosmetic dermatologist Dr. Kenneth Mark agrees. "It's hard to mess her looks up," he says, "but her central cheeks really didn't need any additional volume." Philadelphia plastic surgeon Dr. Kirk Brandon doesn't fully approve of the Wayne's World star's tweaks either. "She has gone slightly too far with the fillers," says Dr. Brandon, adding, "She is a beautiful woman." LS

FOREHEAD
Tia's forehead has remained smooth as she's aged. "You can tell she's had aggressive Botox," says Dr. Yoel Shuhar. "It's brought down her eyebrows." Cost: $1K per treatment.

EYES
Dr. Rivkin suspects Tia has had filler in her tear troughs (the areas just under her eyes). "Botox or Juvederm is possible," he says, adding that this would cost $1K every one to three years.

CHEEKS
"It seems she has had some filler injections or fat transfer to her cheeks," says Dr. Rivkin. "They seem proportionally larger than when she was younger." Price tag: $4K-8K.

JAWLINE
Dr. Mark notes that Tia's jawline "has zero jowling," which he chalks up to Ultherapy ($3.5K). "That gives a nonsurgical lift to maintain a chiseled neck and jawline."
